Thank you Ann, I'm glad you agree.

Perhaps Phillip's email could simply explain to the volunteers that I'm now working on the draft baseline-only report, and will be in touch with them in due course if I have any questions about their sections / need any gaps filled. When it's ready - let's say mid-January - I'll send the working draft out for comments.

NB comments will have to be turned around quite quickly in order to meet the end of January deadline for internal sign-off of draft v1, which will go out for wider comment / consultation in mid-February.

Thanks also for the references.

Best wishes,

Carly

Subject: Re: Ledbury Baseline Studies - Physical Landscape

Hi Carly,

This looks like an excellent approach to the report!

Phillip is very busy, unfortunately. He last said that he would get the email out this week, in which he would be asking for re-engagement of volunteers on the baseline studies and to provide feedback on topic papers. He was planning to say that you would be in touch. I asked him to change the date when work on the baseline studies would be expected i.e. not before Christmas. It may still say end-December, but the main point is to let everyone know what's going on. Whether or not the email goes out, I'm sure everyone will be happy to answer your questions!

The reference for the statement on future flood risks (para. 4.7) comes from the River Severn Catchment Flood Management Plan, 2009, page 22. Para. 4.8 also comes mainly from this report, pages 22 and 23 which cover the Lower Severn Corridor and Leadon Catchment.

Thanks and best wishes,

Ann

I now think it's going to be easier if I pull all the draft sections I've had so far into the report and edit / format them now, instead of emailing the volunteers asking them to update and send their sections back before I go through the text \(unfortunately, they're not all as efficient as you and Celia...\). I can probably fill in most gaps / update Bovis myself. Once the report is 'readable', I'll send it to everyone. That means they can see where their section fits in relation to everything else, and more easily cross-reference with other topics.

I imagine the draft won't be ready until early January; however, I don't think the email saying I'd be in touch with the volunteers has gone out yet, so hopefully they won't be expecting anything. I'll probably email people individually if I have specific questions.

In fact, I have one for you!

You said, "It is predicted that with present trends in land use and management, climate change and further urbanisation, flood risks near Ledbury will increase in future" - do you have a ref for the source of that prediction? Or, is it 'expected' / 'anticipated'?

Many thanks and best wishes,

Carly
